PARKWAY BANK SPORTS COMPLEX

Athletes Unlimited Seasons Hosted: 2020, 2021, 2022 & 2023 Championship Season Softball, 2023 AUX Softball

Parkway Bank Sports Complex, one of the premier softball facilities in the country, provided the backdrop for the 2023 Athletes Unlimited AUX Softball season. In addition, the venue was also the home for Athletes Unlimited Softball's 2023 Championship Season.

The venue, which includes an outdoor stadium and a 140,000 square foot dome, has been the home for Athletes Unlimited Softball since its inception in 2020. Since opening in 2011, the facility has entertained a number of events, including Chicago Bandits (NPF) softball along with the Big East Conference (2014-19, 2022) and Chicagoland Collegiate Athletic Conference Softball Tournaments.

During their nine-year stay at the facility, the Chicago Bandits won a pair of NPF regular season championships in addition to the 2011, 2015 and 2016 Cowles Cup titles. At the time of its construction, Parkway Bank Sports Complex became the first facility of its kind built specifically for women's professional sports in the nation.

ATHLETES UNLIMITED AUX SOFTBALL 101

WHO WE ARE

Athletes Unlimited is a new model of professional sports where athletes are decision makers and individual players are champions of team sports. We literally change the game with faster play and fluid teams, delivering next-level competition and engagement in which every moment counts. Beginning in 2020 with Women's Softball and following with Women's Volleyball (2021), Women's Lacrosse (2021), Women's Basketball (2022) and AUX Softball (2022), Athletes Unlimited will build the next generation of both athletes and fans.

Our athletes are in charge of their team and league decisions, and of their individual success. We reboot timetables, rosters, and gameplay to create fast and exciting competition that speaks to contemporary sports fans, bringing them close to the action and the athletes in games where every moment counts. We incorporate the player-centric model that fans love about fantasy sports. We use digital media platforms and cutting-edge technology to connect fans deeply to athletes at the top of their game on and off the field, and to the game itself.

HOW THE TEAMS ARE SELECTED

A draft will be held prior to each series of games with the top three players in the individual leaderboard serving as the team captains. The captains will then fill their rosters by selecting 13 other players. Each draft will be held two days prior to the start of each six-game series.

Uniform colors will be assigned based on the team captain's rank on the leaderboard. The top-scoring captain's team will wear gold, while the second-highest point scorer's team dons orange jerseys. The third-place team will wear blue jerseys during each series.

Each team will consist of 14 players with four pitchers, two catchers, two middle infielders, two corner infielders, three outfielders and one designated player.

RULES OF INTEREST

Game Duration: Each Athletes Unlimited AUX Softball game will consist of seven (7) innings regardless of the game's score. If the visiting team scores in the top of the seventh inning but trails in the game, the home team will bat in the bottom of the inning in an attempt to win the inning points.

Extra Innings: Team inning points and individual stat points are not earned in extra innings. Only inning points that have carried over from the seventh inning and team game win points can be accumulated. No individual stat points will be awarded once a game goes past the seventh inning.

Captain's Challenges: Each captain will be permitted two (2) video review challenges per game, which will be sent to the replay official for a final decision. A challenge must be indicated by one of the two designated team representatives either verbally or visually before the next pitch is thrown, before all members of the infield have left their positions and fair territory, or before the umpires have left the field of play. A challenge is indicated visually by tapping the top of the head with one hand.

In addition, umpires are allowed to initiate a video review of any call in the reviewable plays list once the game reaches the sixth inning.

The following plays can be reviewed:

1. Whether a batted ball called fair, is fair or foul.
2. Whether a batted ball called a ground-rule double or home run is fair or foul.
3. Whether a batted ball called foul that could result in a ground-rule double or home run is fair or foul.
4. Decide scoring players at home plate, including collisions (illegal and/or malicious slides), obstruction by a defensive player or timing plays
5. Force tag/play calls
6. Hit-by-pitch calls
7. Placement of runners
8. With runners on base, a no-catch call can be changed to a catch only if it results in a third out. With no runners on base, a no-catch call can be changed to a catch at any time.
9. If the ball left the field of play on a home run
10. All aspects of a scoring play or timing play
11. Obstruction and interference at any base, only if the play in question results or would result in the third out of an inning and relates to a scoring/timing play
12. Malicious/flagrant contact
13. Deciding on a foul tip/foul ball at the plate, including a dropped strike

INDIVIDUAL LEADERBOARD

While traditional softball statistics are kept during each Athletes Unlimited AUX game, players earn individual points by accumulating those statistics. Points accumulated by statistics, inning and/or game wins and MVP selections are used to create an individual leaderboard, which determines captains for each series and the individual champion at the end of the season.

Points are awarded at the following increments during the game:

Single	+10 Points
Double	+20 Points
Triple	+30 Points
Home Run	+40 Points
Stolen Base	+10 Points
Caught Stealing	-10 Points
Base on Balls	+8 Points
Hit By Pitch	+8 Points
Sacrifice Fly/Bunt	+10 Points

In addition, pitchers are awarded at the following increments during the game:

Out Recorded	+4 Points
Earned Run Allowed	-10 Points

Every athlete on a team is awarded 10 individual points if the team wins a single inning. If the teams score the same number of runs in an inning, the points carry over to the next inning.

All of the athletes on the winning team in each game are awarded 50 individual points toward the individual leaderboard. The total score determines the overall game winner, which means a team may lose multiple innings, but still win the overall game.

A total of three MVPs will be selected following each game by the athletes with the top player earning 60 points. The second MVP receives 40 points, while the third MVP claims 20 points.

POSTSEASON AWARDS

At the end of the 2023 Athletes Unlimited AUX Softball season, medals will be presented to the top three finishers on the leaderboard in addition to the Defensive MVP.

ATHLETE COMPENSATION

Athletes receive compensation in three ways during an Athletes Unlimited season: base pay, win bonuses (inning and game wins) and a leaderboard bonus.

MEDALS

The top three players on the final leaderboard in addition to the Defensive MVP will receive a medal designed and fabricated for Athletes Unlimited by Lisa Issenberg, founder of Kiitellä, Inc. The front face of the medal represents the identity of Athletes Unlimited, while the back face of the medal leans into the specific sport, the year, location and words about Athletes Unlimited's vision, mission and values on and off the field - Excellence in Community and Leadership.

THE BOOK OF UNLIMITED

The Book of Unlimited was designed, handmade and bound for Athletes Unlimited. The book weighs nearly 25 pounds, measures approximately 12" by 18" and contains nearly 500 pages. The champion, along with all who competed, are inscribed into the book. In addition, The Book of Unlimited also contains a history of achievements in Athletes Unlimited, including stories, highlights and events.

The book is opened during the Opening Ceremony for each season and is closed after the champion is named and her name is inscribed into the book. The tradition began during Athletes Unlimited Softball's inaugural season in 2020.

FACILITATOR BIOS

Danielle O'Toole, the inaugural AUX Softball champion, completed her first season as a facilitator during the 2023 AUX Softball campaign.

CHARLOTTE MORGAN

FACILITATOR • SECOND SEASON

Morgan, who served as a facilitator for the inaugural AUX Softball campaign in San Diego, completed her third season as head coach of the Cal State Northridge softball team in 2023. Under Morgan's leadership, the Matadors' win total has improved in each season, including a 28-win campaign last spring.

The Matadors also earned their first postseason appearance since 2015 after being invited to the National Invitational Softball Championship this year following a 19-8 showing in the Big West Conference.

Boasting one of the top season-to-season win improvements in NCAA Division I, Morgan's squad authored a 24-30 record in 2022 and claimed three All-Big West citations, including First-Team performer Jaymi Steward.

In Morgan's first campaign with the Matadors, Steward joined Kenedee Jamerson as Honorable Mention All-Big West selections.

Prior to her time in Northridge, Morgan spent two seasons as the pitching coach at UT Arlington, helping the Mavericks post a 30-win campaign in 2018 and the NISC Regional crown. The Mavericks also secured victories over a trio of nationally-ranked squads, including Texas State, Louisiana and Oklahoma State.

During a two-year stint as pitching coach at Oklahoma State, Morgan helped the Cowgirls earn their first postseason berth since 2011. She also served as the head coach for the Akron Racers/Cleveland Comets of the National Pro Fastpitch league in 2017 and 2018.

Morgan's résumé also includes two years as pitching coach at Georgia Tech after starting her college coaching career in 2012 at Maryland.

A three-time NFCA All-America pick at Alabama, Morgan earned a pair of Southeastern Conference Player of the Year commendations and was a three-time First-Team All-SEC honoree. The 2010 recipient of the Senior CLASS Award also earned Top 10 Finalist recognition twice for the USA Softball Collegiate Player of the Year Award.

With Morgan on the roster, Alabama reached the 2008 and 2009 NCAA Women's College World Series and collected a 219-40 record.

Morgan's success continued into her professional playing career after being the No. 1 overall pick in the 2010 NPF Senior Draft by the USSSA Pride. The two-time All-NPF standout spent three seasons with the Pride before spending two years with the Akron Racers.

She also threw the first no-hitter against a ranked team in program history when she blanked No. 6 Washington on March 24, 2017.

A 2017 graduate of Arizona with a bachelor's degree in care, health and society, O'Toole was the first Arizona player since 2010 to earn First-Team NFCA All-America distinction when she earned the award during her senior year. She was also Arizona's first Pac-12 Conference Pitcher of the Year honoree since 2004 when she claimed the honor in 2017.

As a coach, O'Toole has enjoyed success over the last five years, which included two seasons at San Diego before her current stint as volunteer assistant coach for Cal State Fullerton. Under O'Toole's guidance, the Titans have reached the NCAA Tournament in each of the past two seasons.

CHAMPION TO FACILITATOR: DANIELLE O'TOOLE BRINGS INTELLECTUAL SIDE TO SOFTBALL

By Savanna Collins
June 17, 2023

"I could do this all day."

With a sigh of satisfaction, facilitator Danielle O'Toole has said that over and over on the first day of AUX practices.

"This" is softball at the cerebral level O'Toole engages with the game. The nitty gritty. Minor adjustments most eyes would never catch.

She's in the bullpen with the captain she is paired with for the week, Dejah Mulipola, and star rookie pitcher from UCLA, Megan Faraimo.

O'Toole watches behind her shades and while she looks stoic, the gears are turning.

"Manipulating is the word I like to use, but it's not in a negative connotation," O'Toole explained. "How can I kinetically get you to manipulate your body into doing something that's beneficial for your pitch? That is what is super exciting to me, seeing somebody be a sponge, take it in, process it."

Faraimo was taking it in from the Olympic pitcher. They talked about the break of curve balls, how to attack the batters, and how deep Faraimo holds the ball in her palm. The rookie excitedly told O'Toole about a pitch she had been thinking about inventing that she didn't have in her arsenal yet but seemed unsure.

O'Toole gave immediate assurance that no ideas are foolish. She told her they could work on it.

It may feel unnatural for fans to watch an Athletes Unlimited Softball game and not see Danielle O'Toole in the circle. She's been a pitcher since the league's inception and became the face of the AUX season as the inaugural champion.

But O'Toole could not be more comfortable in her role as a facilitator this season. She's been at Cal-State Fullerton for the last few years on the coaching staff and her knack for development started in college. She took freshmen under her wing and helped them along in the transition.

In the National Pro Fastpitch league, she noticed teammate Kelly Barnhill didn't have a curve ball.

Her thinking? "Let's try it."

Throughout her AU career on pitching staffs, she's been a sage of advice to newcomers in the league. She tells all first-year hurlers two things: expand the strike zone and don't be afraid to throw a ball.

But being a pitcher her entire life, there are aspects of the team she's missed out on in the past.

"I've never been able to pay attention to the cage 'cause I'm usually throwing or I'm shagging and now I can really see what everyone's talking about or what we're working on ... or some drills I can pick up."

That mentality of being a sponge is one O'Toole applies to herself too. She surprised the other facilitators when she stepped up to hit fungo in practice. It's something she's been working on coaching at the college level because for her, if there's a way she can help her team she wants to know how to do it.

"Whatever a captain doesn't want to do, I'll do it."

OUT OF THE DARK

O'Toole wanted to retire for quite some time but "not like that."

In the 2021 AU season, she struggled. She finished in 58th place out of 61 athletes, acquired no MVP points, earned negative stat points, and was drafted near the bottom each week. O'Toole couldn't let herself be done yet.

"I've worked way too hard my entire life to be able to just let it go because I was mentally not okay. Well, I'm gonna make myself okay, I'm gonna figure it out," O'Toole said when she reflected after that season.

She worked to get her arm back in shape, rehabbing almost every day. She tore her labrum right before the Olympics and used Cortisone shots to get her through competing in Tokyo and in Rosemont. Not only was O'Toole not physically at her best but mentally, things were dark. She'd hit a low many Olympians have spoken about after competing. A "post-Olympic depression" that leaves athletes questioning who they are and what their purpose is after reaching the peak of their lifelong hopes and dreams.

"It's crazy how much that mental part takes over when you're just suffocating in your own body. And when I finally got out of it [I] realized like, I am not gonna go out that way."

The inaugural season of AUX presented a mentality shift for O'Toole. She's always been a humble player throughout her career, never one to brag, and prefers to do her job and then lay low.

But her light from within had been relit, and boy, was it bright now. It shined in her smile in postgame interviews, from the dugout cheering on her teammates, and particularly in the circle.

In nine appearances, O'Toole logged 18 strikeouts and held opponents to a .206 average. She finished with a league-best 1.69 ERA.

She was voted an MVP by her peers four times, earned 266 stat points, and couldn't be drafted at the end — she was the captain making the picks in Series 3 and led her team to a 3-1 record that secured her championship finish.

O'Toole has felt the lows of the bottom of the AU rankings when she "could not throw a decent pitch to save my life." But she also knows what it takes to climb to the top and win. No one is more relatable to the athlete experience in this unique league than her.

THRIVING IN THE DETAILS

Looking back a full year later, she could not be more proud of herself. And she feels at peace with being done playing.

Now, she has her sights on new goals. One she set for herself as a facilitator is learning how to build a lineup. It's a craft she's always admired about her legendary head coach from Arizona, Mike Candrea. She sees how Cal-State Fullerton's Kelly Ford can piece together a hitting order that creates a domino effect of results.

Another softball intricacy O'Toole wants to examine, tweak, and perfect.

In Series 1, she took on coaching third, something she hadn't done before. It was a challenge she had some anticipation for.

"I don't wanna say that I'm nervous because it's just part of our game and it's what we do. And sometimes that third base coach gets put on the rope for not sending somebody or sending them too much."

During batting practice, she asked Mulipola what their plan as a team would be. Did they want to play it safe or be risk-takers with base running? Mulipola mulled it over — no one had ever asked her that before as a captain.

It's all in the details for O'Toole, as it has been throughout her playing career. It paid off as a facilitator. Twice Team Mulipola was aggressive on the base path, with O'Toole pushing for an extra bag or sending a runner home. They scored off of it multiple times.

"I'm an auxiliary. I'm meant to help. If you need me, I'm here."

The role may look different, but O'Toole is still doing the same things she did while in uniform. Picking apart a hitter, soaking in every lesson she can learn on the diamond, and talking pitching sequences. She's developing a new craft, one that's kinder to her arm.

In fact, the only thing O'Toole misses about being an athlete is the player group chat. She laughed talking about the feeling of FOMO (fear of missing out) from no longer being in one.

So if someone could secretly add her, that would be great.

'YOU'RE GONNA BE OKAY, COURT'; GANO DEDICATES FINAL SEASON TO HER DAD GREG

By Savanna Collins
June 25, 2023

Courtney Gano is one of the moms of Athletes Unlimited Softball, competing for three seasons in the league while raising her almost three-year-old son.

But before Gano was "Greggy's mom" she was Coach Gano's daughter.

As she competes in the final season of her seven-year professional softball career, she's dedicated it to the Gregory her son is named after.

'I'M SO PROUD OF YOU'

A year ago while competing in the inaugural AUX season, Courtney Gano had a feeling something was wrong. Her father Greg Gano lived two hours north of San Diego and drove down to watch her play, just as he'd done her entire softball career.

But now he'd arrive early to take more frequent naps with Gregory before games started. Or, he would leave early in the fifth inning saying he didn't feel well or needed to rest. She noticed he was tired – a lot.

But in the final game of the season, he stayed not only seven innings but ten as Courtney's team went into extras. He was there in the stands when she hit a walk-off grand slam to give her team the victory.

After celebrating with her team, Greg was the first place she went. He was along the third base side cheering and crying for his daughter, overwhelmed with emotions.

"He had tears in his eyes and I remember him just saying, 'I'm so proud of you,'" Courtney said.

It was a memorable moment for Courtney in her career. She'd struggled throughout the season, disappointed in her performance.

"I'd be really upset after the games and I wouldn't perform well... He always reminded me [and] would always say, 'You're gonna be okay, Court!'"

Now 29 years old, those reassuring words hadn't changed since her childhood.

'YOU DON'T NEED MY FIRST NAME, I'M COACH GANO'S DAUGHTER'

Greg Gano is a legend in California high school football. He was a head football coach for nearly 30 years and spent the majority of his career at Los Altos where he won four CIF Southern Section championships.

Courtney was there for it all; riding the bus, cheering as the mascot, and hauling equipment as the ball girl.

As a child, Courtney played her own games on the sideline during practices and ate Pizza Chalet ordered from the local joint on Sundays when the coaching staff came over to watch film. She'd cemented herself with him full-time at age 10. It was just 'Dad and Court' – all the time.

When Courtney reached high school, there was no phase of teenage angst that made her embarrassed of her dad. She was the opposite.

"I'd see him walking down the halls and I would yell, 'Hi, dad!' I wanted to make sure everyone knew that he's my dad because that's how loved he was. That's how proud I was and I am still."

Greg was a coach that embodied so much more than the title. Courtney remembers having Thanksgiving with the entire team and Christmas shopping for players her dad knew might not have presents under the tree.

Throughout those childhood years, Courtney made relationships that would carry through to the professional level.

She played travel ball for the Corona Angels at 15 years old alongside AU teammates Taylor Edwards and Danielle O'Toole. Greg even coached O'Toole's younger brother in high school. Their families became familiar through the long days spent at the ballpark and traveling across the state for tournaments.

"They know some stories and they have stories of their own. Like, 'Remember when you used to make your dad go to the snack bar and get you nachos, and he'd come back and you'd tell him it wasn't right and he'd go back?'" Gano laughed. "I was so spoiled ... Those types of things it's fun and it's a special thing."

'THAT'S NOT A COINCIDENCE'

After seeing her compete close to home in California last year, Greg traveled to Rosemont, Ill. for the 2022 Championship Season in July. He mentioned he was having trouble swallowing.

"He had cancer at the time, but we didn't know it," Gano explained.

He returned home to California and one evening began vomiting blood. He dialed 911 before falling unconscious.

That night at 2 a.m. Courtney got a call from Michael O'Toole – Danielle O'Toole's dad. He was the fireman who showed up to care for Greg at his home. The other fireman who responded was one of his former players.

"That's who I got the call from, Mike O'Toole. 'Your dad's in the hospital. I'm by his side. It's gonna be okay. I'm gonna keep checking on him.'"

"And that's not a coincidence," Gano said.

That call was during the final week of the 2022 Championship Season in August. Courtney flew to California and moved her dad to Seattle where her home base is for treatment. He was diagnosed with esophageal cancer.

'YOU'D BE GREAT IN PURPLE'

After his first chemotherapy treatment, Courtney picked him up and brought him to the Washington Softball field so she could finish up practices. She was the director of player development last year for the Huskies.

"He got to kind of see me doing my thing on the field with the girls. And he had always said, 'I think you'd be great in purple. I think you'd be great coaching alongside Coach Tarr.' And I kept saying, 'Well, maybe someday. Maybe someday.'"

Greg came out onto the field to snap a photo with his daughter, his grandson Gregory, and Washington Head Coach Heather Tarr. Aside from family, Coach Tarr was the last person to visit Greg before he passed.

Washington was the one and only visit for Courtney and Greg during her softball recruiting process. While on the visit, he leaned over to one of the other girls on the visit and told her, "My daughter's coming here."

Courtney laughs recalling one of her earliest memories at Washington with her dad.

"He wanted it for me. He loved Washington. And so that was our first trip together ... Our only one. I committed right then."

Greg got to see Courtney's softball career unfold. He wore Husky purple for four years. He saw her don red, white and blue with Team USA. He made many trips outs to Rosemont when she played for the Chicago Bandits in the National Pro Fastpitch league. And he got to see her return to the game as a mom competing with AU.

Just like she got to be there for it all in his coaching career, Greg was there for it all in her playing career. And before she knew with certainty what path she would take next, Greg was sure his daughter was going to be a coach.

"He got to see every level of what I did. He got a good glimpse of himself in me. He knew I was going to become a coach before I did."

In June of this year, UW Softball and Coach Tarr announced the addition of Courtney as an assistant coach.

'I'LL ALWAYS SHOW UP'

There are many ways Greg lives on after his passing in November.

His coaching legacy continues through Courtney. She sees the similarities that they care for their players as people first, guiding them to be better humans and then better athletes.

"Showing up is something that he always did. I just want them to know I love and care about them and I'll always show up."

His legacy also lives on in his grandson who has his name.

When Courtney found out she was having a boy, there was no doubt she and her husband Abdul were naming him Gregory.

"I see so much of my dad in my son and they had such a great relationship. And I know it's so early on, it's Gregory's early years, but he still talks about his papa all the time. This morning he said, 'Papa's in heaven with God'... It's those kinds of things are so emotional but so comforting."

Before Greg passed, Courtney captured as many memories as she could. They recorded birthday messages to play for Gregory on his birthday. Greg had one of his favorite photos of him and his grandson laughing together turned into a painting. It hangs in Courtney's home where Gregory can see it.

"My son doesn't get to experience my dad as long as I wish, but my dad got to experience my son for as long as he could and they had a special bond."

'YOU'RE GONNA BE OKAY, COURT'; GANO DEDICATES FINAL SEASON TO HER DAD GREG'YOU'RE GONNA BE OKAY, COURT'

In her dad's final days, Courtney didn't understand how he could be so at peace when her whole world was falling apart. She wondered, 'How could you be okay with leaving? How do you know I'm gonna be okay?' But she now recalls his assurance.

"He was so confident in knowing that he loved me, how hard he loved me, and that he cared for me. He had no regrets, nothing ... That now gives me some comfort and peace to know he was okay with what he was leaving this world. He gave it everything that he wanted. And that's the kind of impact that I hope to make. I want to be able to feel that when it's my time."

Courtney still feels like the other half of her is gone but she has ways she's found to connect to her dad seven months later. You'll notice the butterflies on her social media posts and her nails. "Butterfly Kisses" was their song; they used to dance to it together in the living room. With tears but softly smiling, Gano remembers how he'd hold her. She'd lay her head against him and they'd sing the song.

"And so now, I always see butterflies. It's the craziest thing. It's just a reminder that he's with me."

His memory is also laced into the leather of her glove. Periwinkle laces for esophageal cancer awareness and Dad embroidered in his favorite color green. She was able to show him the glove before he passed and it sat by his bed while he was in hospice care.

Now, Courtney will slip on that glove Tuesday when she takes the field for the last time as a player.

She'll be with her support system and her teammates that have become family; the new ones and the old ones who knew her and Greg growing up in West Covina, Calif. Gregory will be there too, surrounded by his entire league of aunts.

Courtney doubted if she would return to play in 2023, but now she's glad she did. Softball was always their thing and the last time is in honor of her dad.

"I've been thoroughly enjoying it and I have this sense of peace now being on the field."

Her dad's voice cuts through the sadness, the performance anxiety, and the pressure.

"I love you. I'm so proud of you. You're gonna be okay, Court."

AUX SOFTBALL CANCELLATIONS HIGHLIGHT PLAYER-LED DECISION MAKING AND PRIORITIZATION OF CARE

By Savanna Collins

July 5, 2023

There have been plenty of unpredictable finales to Athletes Unlimited seasons like walk-off grand slams and last-minute shuffling to the top of the leaderboard. None have been entirely as unanticipated as the conclusion to the 2023 AUX Softball season.

The season's final two games scheduled for June 27 were forced to be canceled due to hazardous air quality blowing from northerly winds of the Canadian Wildfires.

Early Tuesday morning, weather apps indicated the worsening air quality in Rosemont, Ill. AU leadership began monitoring the air quality and contacting local resources at the O'Hare Airport and Chicago Cubs.

The Softball Player Executive Committee (PEC) was immediately notified and brought into conversations about what the options were for the league.

By midday, the World Air Quality Index reported Chicago had the worst air quality in the world. That group marked Chicago's air "unhealthy" and in the red zone. Chicagoans were advised to wear masks to protect from air pollution, run air purifiers, and close windows.

Rosemont is approximately 13 miles outside of the city and reached "purple" air quality in the 201 to 300 range on the AQI by midday.

The U.S. Air Quality Index is the Environmental Protection Agency's index for reporting air quality. The AQI runs from zero to 500; the higher the AQI value, the greater the level of air pollution and health concerns. Values less than 50 represent good air quality while anything over 300 is regarded as hazardous. AQI readings varied by site but Rosemont was consistently above 200 on Tuesday afternoon.

The PEC collectively determined a threshold they were willing to compete in and set the benchmark of less than 200 in order to play games 17 and 18 of the season.

The first game was scheduled for 3:30 p.m. CT. The Committee decided to delay it to 6 p.m. CT because of predictions that the northerly winds would potentially shift as the day wore on, reducing the pollution level.

As six o'clock approached, the PEC explored other options to ensure player safety was prioritized and that the most equitable outcome for all athletes was reached. They considered moving the games to Wednesday but there was no guarantee that air quality would improve within 24 hours.

Earlier that morning, the PEC decided that if the final two games had to be canceled, Game 16 would be removed from players' stats and points. Within the AUX format, each team plays a doubleheader and Team Leach was the home team in both games set to play on Tuesday. That meant Team Garcia and Team Warren had played one more game than Team Leach, creating an imbalance of point-earning opportunities.

Ultimately, as the revised start time drew near, Rosemont was still above 200 AQI and regarded as very unhealthy air quality with "the risk of effects increased for everyone."

The PEC decided to cancel both games, remove Game 16 and finalize the leaderboard as it stood. They aimed their decision towards creating the most equitable outcome for the entire player group while prioritizing player safety – even in a situation that felt unfair.

"It was always clear that health was the number one priority first and foremost," said AU Softball Director of Sport Cheri Kempf. "But they did think through all the ramifications of potentially canceling.

"They just knew that there was not gonna be a perfect answer, but they thought they got to the best one... They covered concerns broadly and diversely. It was a decision that really factored in the player-led organization and probably one of the best examples of when you want them involved in a decision."

HOW MIA DAVIDSON BROKE OUT AS STARTING CATCHER IN 2023

By Savanna Collins
September 13, 2023

In Mia Davidson's rookie season, she found ways on the field and into the lineup.

Throughout 2022, she started 12 games as the designated player, played 13 innings in right field, and seven at first base. But she only had two innings as a catcher — her true position. In 2023, Davidson became one of the staple catchers in Athletes Unlimited Softball, logging 94 innings behind the plate in the 2023 Championship season and 56 at AUX.

She is one of few in the league's history to break into one of the most challenging positions and earn a consistent starting spot. A full year of intentional training, dedication, and opportunities led to Davidson achieving her goals as a professional catcher in just her second year as a pro. And it started where few can see: the bullpen.

Despite playing a handful of innings as a catcher, Davidson was one of the most consistent catchers to gear up when a pitcher needed to throw a bullpen.

"Her willingness to put in the extra work, getting to know pitchers ... She's a yes person, she'll never say no," is how pitcher Peyton St. George described Davidson's commitment during her rookie year.

AU Softball has seen its share of pitcher-catcher duos. Most remember Cat Osterman drafting Gwen Svekis with her No. 1 pick every week in the inaugural season. Or Danielle O'Toole and Sashel Palacios' friendship that translated to strategy on the field. But most catchers rotate with new pitching staffs every week, making relationship-building paramount because when you're facing the best hitters in the world, there has to be trust.

"Mia catching so many different pitchers, she knows where they miss and she knows how to call them," St. George said. Many AU pitchers don't throw much during the week, giving their bodies and arms time to rest. When they were ready, Davidson was waiting to say yes.

Davidson's development continued after the 2022 season when she was named to the 15-player Women's National Team roster set to represent Team USA at the 2022 Pan American Games where she competed with five other AU pitchers including Odicci Alexander, Alyssa Denham, Mariah Mazon, Rachel Garcia, and 2023 newcomer Megan Faraimo.

"We worked really well together, just how we communicated on and off. Like every inning, we would go in and talk about what we saw with certain batters and if we didn't agree we respected each other and would say, 'That's okay, let's try this.' It's all about knowing that what you call, they'll trust that it's gonna work," Davidson said.

Trust in Davidson's pitch calling means sometimes putting faith in the untraditional. St. George brought up a game where Davidson called three change-ups in a row. "I love throwing her because she doesn't get into patterns ... She does things that are very out of the ordinary. She loves to play cat and mouse with the hitters."

Davidson recalls that sequence well. "I was like, why not? Sure, see what happens. They haven't been on time yet so if they are on time good for them," she laughed.

Months of growth led to the first draft of the 2023 AUX season. With her seventh pick, captain Morgan Zerkle drafted Davidson as the first catcher to her team and on the opening day of games, called her number to start. It was the beginning of Davidson's establishment as a top catcher and the first step of her climb up the leaderboard. She finished the first series ranked fifth overall and then fourth after the second series. Davidson closed out the season in third place, medaling for the first time in her AU career.

Where Davidson had previously been drafted for her bat (and rightfully so) she was now being picked to teams for her all-around contribution and ability to call a game.

"I knew I was a good hitter and a good catcher. [It was] just actually putting it into action and showing it and having the confidence to come in here and [say], 'Alright, I'm just gonna give it all. Whatever happens, happens.' I think I matured in that way."

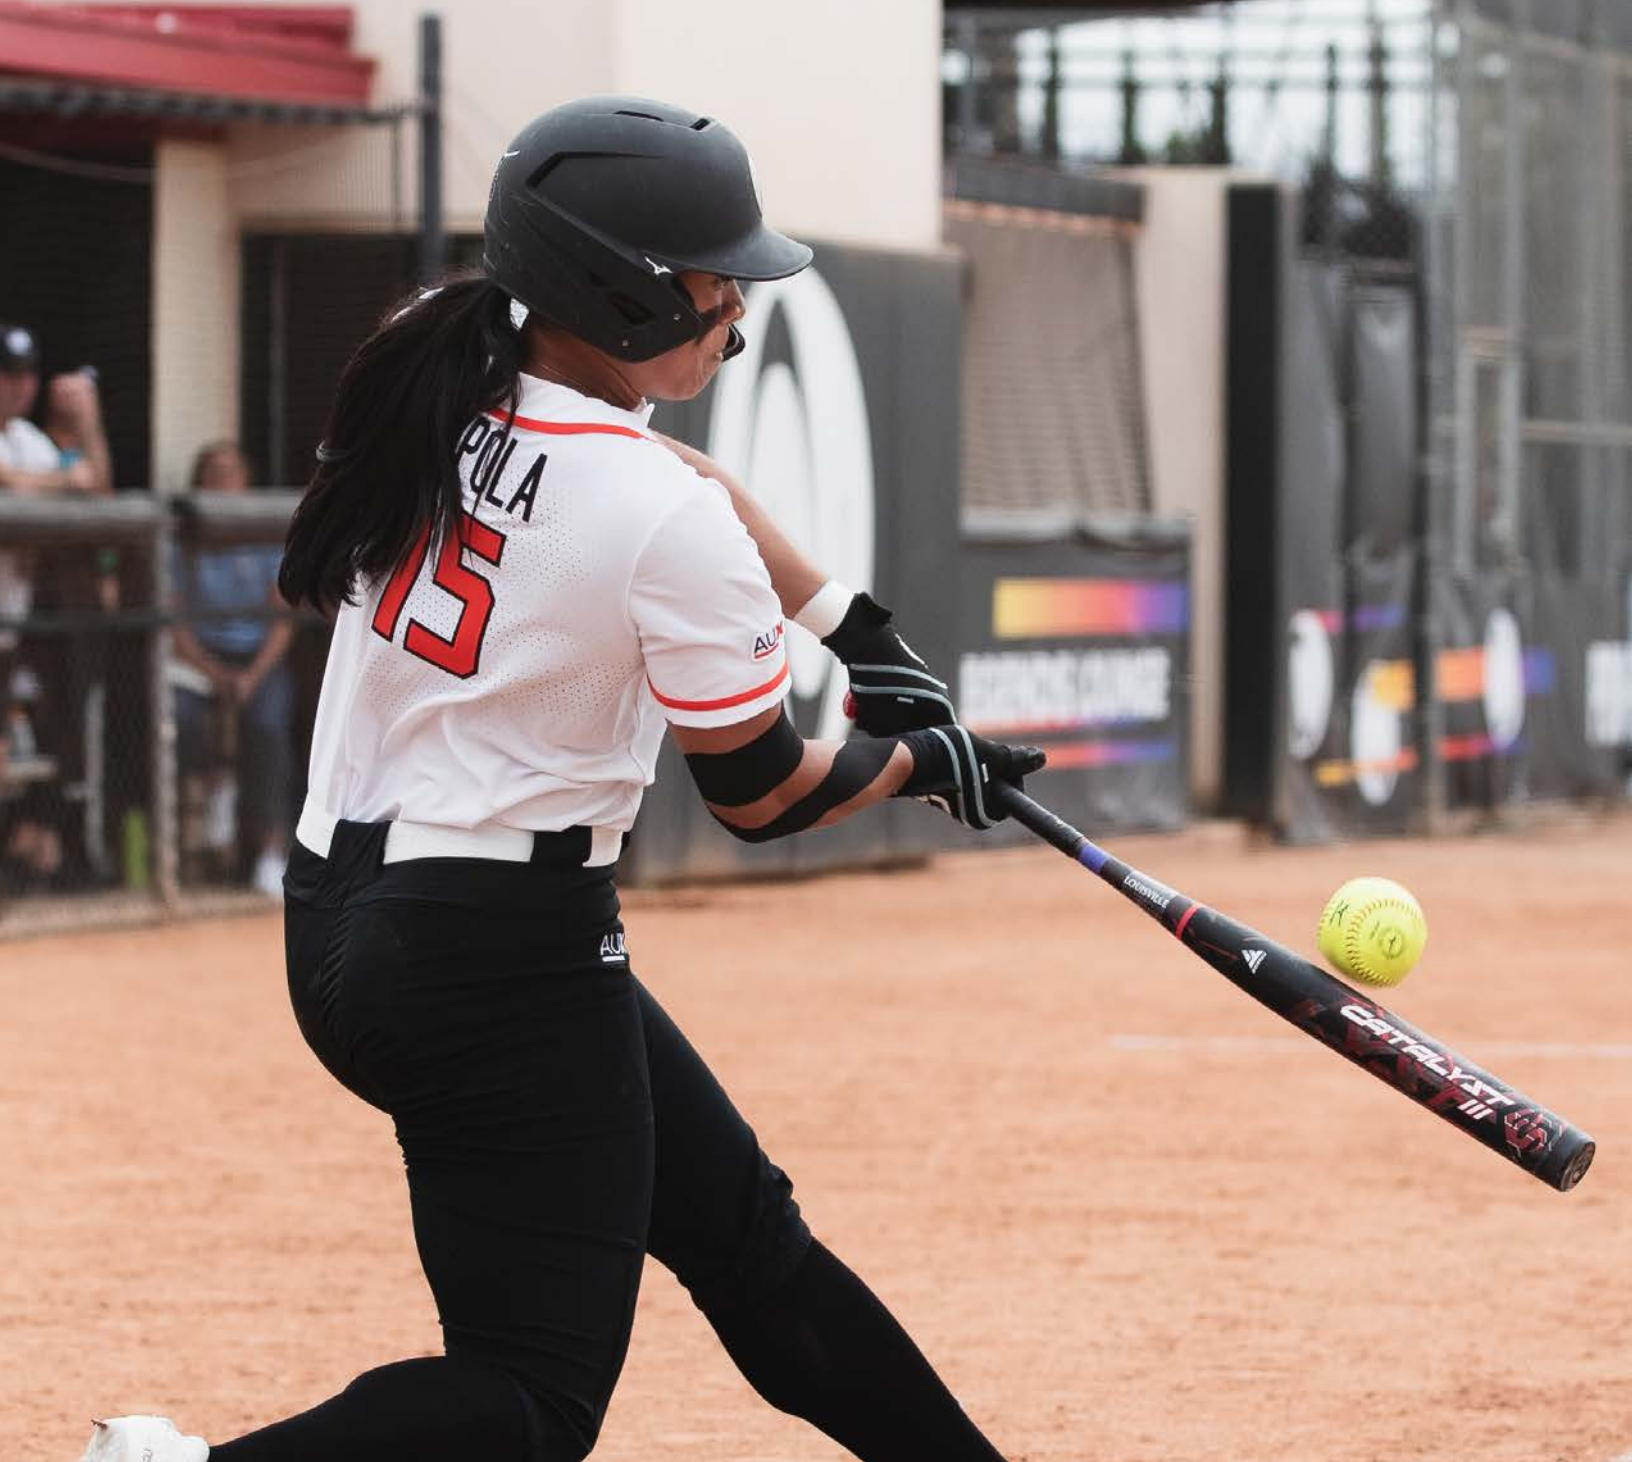

Her upped draft stock and starting spot carried over into Championship season, where she was consistently picked in the early third and fourth rounds until she was the one choosing her own team. Davidson was a captain for the first time in Week Three and stayed in the top four to be a captain again in Week Four.

Amongst working on framing and learning new strategies for pitch calling, there was a moment working with veteran catcher Taylor Edwards that stuck out most to Davidson and encapsulated how she needed to progress as a player. Multiple weeks in her rookie year she played behind Edwards and would pick her brain about what she called and why during. Edwards told Davidson that while she accounts for the pitcher's strengths and the batter at the plate, sometimes it just comes down to her gut. It was about trusting yourself to make the right call.

Davidson could develop her skills all offseason but she also had to shake the doubt and stop the overthinking. "I feel like it's all about trusting what you know and if you have confidence in it, you can't regret calling it," Davidson explained. "But now I'm like, you know what if I call it, I believe every single ounce she's gonna throw this best pitch right here."

Coming into the summer of competition, Davidson said that she didn't want to be defined as a hitter who catches but instead known as a catcher who hits. She feels like she's there now.

"It's pretty impressive knowing that people now trust me to catch ... I think that's probably the best. I really take pride in that." Laughing, she added, "Especially when we win."
