ATHLETES UNLIMITED VOLLEYBALL 101

WHO WE ARE

Athletes Unlimited is a new model of professional sports where athletes are decision makers and individual players are champions of team sports. We literally change the game with faster play and fluid teams, delivering next-level competition and engagement in which every moment counts. Athletes Unlimited began in 2020 with Women's Softball and followed with Women's Volleyball (2021), Women's Lacrosse (2021), Women's Basketball (2022) and AUX Softball (2022). Athletes Unlimited is building the next generation of both athletes and fans.

Our athletes are in charge of their team and league decisions, and of their individual success. We reboot rosters and gameplay to create fast and exciting competition that speaks to contemporary sports fans, bringing them close to the action and the athletes in games where every moment counts. We incorporate the player-centric model that fans love about fantasy sports. We use digital media platforms and cutting-edge technology to connect fans deeply to athletes at the top of their game on and off the field, and to the game itself.

HOW THE TEAMS ARE SELECTED

A draft will be held prior to each week's matches with the top four players in the individual leaderboard serving as the team captains. The captains will then fill their rosters by selecting 10 other players. Each draft will be held on the Tuesday before the week's matches.

Uniform colors will be assigned based on the team captain's rank on the leaderboard. The top-scoring captain's team will wear gold, while the second-highest point scorer's team dons orange jerseys. The third-place team will wear blue jerseys and the fourth-place team will wear purple jerseys.

Each team will consist of 11 players, including five PINs (outside hitters and opposite hitters), two setters, three middle blockers and one libero.

RULES OF INTEREST

Match Duration: Each Athletes Unlimited volleyball match consists of three (3) sets regardless of whether a team wins two sets in the match. A set is won when a team scores 25 or more points while winning by a margin of two (2) points or more.

Golden Set: In the event the match score is tied after three (3) sets, a "Golden Set" will be played to determine the match winner. The "Golden Set" will be won by the team which scores five (5) points while winning by a two-point margin or when a team reaches 10 total points.

Substitutions: Teams are limited to a maximum of six (6) substitutions in each set. In the event any match requires a "Golden Set," teams will be permitted no more than two (2) substitutions for the additional set.

Timeouts: Each team is permitted a maximum of two (2) timeouts per set with each timeout lasting two minutes (2:00). In the event a "Golden Set" is necessary, each team will be given one (1) timeout for the additional set.

Media Timeouts: A media timeout of three minutes (3:00) will take place when a team scores 15 points in a set during regulation. There will not be a media timeout in a "Golden Set."

Time Between Sets: A timeout of five (5) minutes will take place between each set.

Captain's Challenges: A captain may initiate replay review of certain events subject to the provisions of the rule as set out below. Replay reviews triggered under this rule shall be referred to as a 'Captain's Challenge', or 'Challenge' for short.

Each team is entitled to two (2) challenges per set. In the event a "Golden Set" is played, each team will be granted one (1) challenge.

A team may use a Challenge to initiate replay review of the following events:

- 🕒 Whether a ball is in or out
- 🕒 Block touch
- 🕒 Service line fault
- 🕒 3-meter line fault
- 🕒 Center line fault
- 🕒 Net touch

Any called fault, violation, or other decision by the match officials not listed above, or any non-call, is not a challengeable event.

Officials' Reviews: Match officials may initiate a replay review of the same specific events as "Captain's Challenge" under the guidelines below. Replay reviews triggered under this rule shall be referred to as an "Officials' Review."

An Officials' Review can only occur during a set when one team has reached 20 points or during a "Golden Set." In addition, there are no limits on the number of "Officials' Reviews" and they can be called regardless of whether a team has any remaining "Captain's Challenges" in the set.

INDIVIDUAL LEADERBOARD

While traditional volleyball statistics are kept during each Athletes Unlimited match, players earn individual points by accumulating those statistics. Points accumulated by statistics, set and/or match wins and MVP selections are used to create an individual leaderboard, which determines captains for each week and the individual champion at the end of the season.

Points are awarded at the following increments during the match:

Service Ace	+12 Points
Block	+12 Points
Kill	+8 Points
Dig	+5 Points
Good Pass	+2 Points
Block Assist *	+2 Points
Assist	+1 Point
Service Error	-8 Points
Attack Error	-12 Points
Set Error	-12 Points
Pass Error	-12 Points

* - Middle blockers only

In the event a set requires more than 50 points to determine a winner, stat points will not be recorded for any stats after the 50-point mark in the set. In addition, if a match requires overtime or a "Golden Set," the stats accumulated during the "Golden Set" do not earn any individual points for the athletes on the leaderboard. There are also no additional team set win points for the "Golden Set."

In addition, athletes will be awarded 40 individual points if their team wins a single set. If the teams score the same number of points in a set, the points carry over to the next set.

Athletes on the winning team in each match will be awarded 60 individual points toward the individual leaderboard. The total score determines the overall match winner, which means a team may lose two sets, but win the overall match.

Example: The Gold Team loses the first two sets 25-23 and 25-23 to the Blue Team, but wins the last set, 25-17. The Gold Team wins the overall match points because they had the larger overall score, 71-67.

A total of three MVPs will be selected following each game by the athletes with the top player earning 60 points. The second MVP receives 40 points, while the third MVP claims 20 points.

MEDALS

The top four players on the final leaderboard in addition to the Defensive Player of the Year will receive a medal designed and fabricated for Athletes Unlimited by Lisa Issenberg, founder of KiiTellä, inc. The front face of the medal represents the identity of Athletes Unlimited, while the back face of the medal leans into the specific sport, the year, location and words about Athletes Unlimited's vision, mission and values on and off the field - Excellence in Community and Leadership.

ATHLETE COMPENSATION

Athletes are compensated in three ways during an Athletes Unlimited season, including base pay, win bonuses (set and match wins) and a leaderboard bonus. Athletes Unlimited also makes an additional donation equal to the athlete's win bonus to their selected cause partner.

POSTSEASON AWARDS

At the conclusion of the 2023 Athletes Unlimited Volleyball season, the following awards will be presented during the closing ceremony:

- 🕒 Medals to top four finishers on leaderboard
- 🕒 Defensive Player of the Year
- 🕒 Blocker of the Year
- 🕒 Sportsmanship Award
- 🕒 Athletes Unlimited All-Position Team (top players at each position)

The All-Position Team will include one setter, one libero, one opposite, two middle blockers and two outside hitters.

THE BOOK OF UNLIMITED

The Book of Unlimited was designed, handmade and bound for Athletes Unlimited and serves as a record keeper of its leagues. The book, which was handmade by Tikhon Verygyn in his studio in Kyiv, Ukraine, weighs nearly 25 pounds, measures approximately 12" by 18" and contains nearly 500 pages. The champion, along with all who competed, are inscribed into the book. In addition, The Book of Unlimited also contains a history of achievements in Athletes Unlimited, including stories, highlights and events.

The book is opened during the Opening Ceremony for each season and is closed after the champion is named and her name is inscribed into the book. The tradition began during Athletes Unlimited Softball's inaugural season in 2020.

ATHLETE CAUSES

The Athlete Causes program, powered by Give Lively, will provide funding to charities of the players' choosing equal to 100 percent of their season win bonus and players will have the opportunity to create their own fundraising pages to support the organizations of their choice.

KAYLA BANWARTH

FACILITATOR
FIRST SEASON • NEBRASKA, '12

Kayla Banwarth completed her first season as an Athletes Unlimited Volleyball facilitator during the 2023 campaign.

Banwarth, a 2012 graduate of Nebraska, spent three seasons as the head volleyball coach at Ole Miss from 2020-22. Under her tutelage, the Rebels earned their first NCAA Tournament appearance in 11 years after earning an at-large berth into the 2021 event.

Ole Miss also registered the best turnaround in NCAA Division I in 2021, fashioning a 21-9 record after winning just one match in 2020-21. Three players on the 2021 team – Anna Bair, Kylie McLaughlin and Sasha Ratliff – earned AVCA South All-Region recognition, while McLaughlin and Ratliff secured a spot on the All-Southeastern Conference Team.

Prior to being named the eighth head coach in Ole Miss history, Banwarth spent three seasons as an assistant coach at her alma mater. The Huskers won the 2017 NCAA Division I title and made an appearance in the national championship match in 2018.

During Banwarth's first season on the Husker sidelines, Nebraska secured the NCAA crown after compiling a 32-4 record, including a 19-1 mark in Big Ten Conference play. Setter Kelly Hunter was named co-recipient of the NCAA Championship's Most Outstanding Player award in addition to being a First-Team AVCA All-America selection and the Big Ten's Setter of the Year.

In 2018, the Huskers returned to the NCAA Championship match and ranked as one of the best defensive units in the nation by holding opponents to a .144 hitting percentage. Libero Kenzie Maloney earned her second consecutive NCAA Championship All-Tournament Team honor in addition to receiving Third-Team AVCA All-America distinction.

Banwarth's final season at her alma mater culminated in the Huskers ranking ninth in the nation with a .153 opponent hitting percentage and reaching the NCAA quarterfinals for the eighth year in a row.

Before returning to Lincoln, Banwarth was a volunteer assistant coach for the men's volleyball team at Pepperdine in 2015 and 2016. The Waves went 13-11 in her first season while the squad ranked among the nation's leaders by averaging 7.69 digs per set.

Banwarth, a former walk-on at Nebraska, became the starting libero midway through her freshman season and held the starting role until 2010. She was an Honorable Mention selection on the All-Big 12 Conference teams as a junior and senior and guided the Huskers to three Big 12 Conference titles in addition to an appearance in the 2008 NCAA semifinals.

Banwarth holds the Nebraska single-match record with 32 digs in a three-set affair against Baylor on November 18, 2009 and stands as one of four players in program history to notch 30 or more digs in a match. She also ranks second on the Huskers' single-season and career digs lists after accumulating 1,706 digs from 2007-10, including 570 digs during her junior campaign.

Banwarth embarked on a professional playing career in 2011 that featured six years on the U.S. National Team. She also played professionally overseas in Azerbaijan.

Banwarth was named the Best Receiver at the 2015 NORCECA Championship and helped Team USA win a Gold medal at the FIVB World Grand Prix in 2016. She aided Team USA to the FIVB World Championship in 2014, the first gold medal for the United States at a major tournament. She anchored the squad at the 2016 Olympic Games in Rio De Janeiro, helping Team USA to a Bronze medal.

Banwarth was named USA Volleyball's Female Indoor Most Improved Player of the Year in 2013 and led the team to a Gold medal at the 2012 and 2013 Pan American Cups. She was the runner-up in the Best Digger category at the 2013 FIVB World Grand Champions Cup after posting 3.19 digs per set.

Banwarth started her international playing career in 2011, piloting Team USA to a Bronze medal at the Pan American Games.

DAVE RUBIO

FIRST SEASON • CAL STATE NORTHRIDGE, '82

After a legendary and record-setting career as the head volleyball coach at the University of Arizona, Dave Rubio continued his success as an Athletes Unlimited Volleyball facilitator during the 2023 campaign.

During his time in Tucson, Rubio piloted the Wildcats to a 570-380 (.600) record and 20 NCAA Tournament appearances. The Wildcats reached the quarterfinals four times and earned a berth in the 2001 national semifinals to cap off a 25-5 record. Arizona also won multiple matches in the NCAA Tournament eight times under Rubio's tutelage.

In addition, the Wildcats' trophy case was filled with numerous accolades during Rubio's tenure. He recruited and coached four First-Team AVCA All-America performers, including Dana Burkholder, who was the program's first two-time First-Team honoree. Burkholder also became the first player in program history to earn Pac-10 Player of the Year distinction when she received the award in 2000.

Nine different players received AVCA All-America notice during Rubio's tenure, including four student-athletes who garnered multiple citations. Kim Glass, the 2002 AVCA National Freshman of the Year, became the first player in program history to earn three All-America certificates, including First-Team honors in 2005.

Rubio, who closed his career in second place on the Pac-12 Conference's all-time wins list behind Andy Banachowski, also mentored 34 all-conference selections, 15 league all-freshman picks and 68 academic all-conference players. He was also honored as the 2000 Pac-10 Coach of the Year after guiding the Wildcats to their first league title.

Prior to his stint with the Wildcats, Rubio spent five seasons at Cal State Bakersfield where he guided the Roadrunners to a 122-66 record with a pair of appearances in the NCAA Division II semifinals, including the 1989 Division II title. He was honored as the ASICS Tiger Coach of the Year in 1989 before receiving the CCAA Coach of the Year in 1991.

Rubio served as an assistant coach for Cal State Northridge's men's team in 1983 and then for the women's team in 1985, helping them win a national championship. He began his coaching career in 1978 as the boys' coach at Granada Hills High School.

Rubio also spent time as an assistant at Pierce College before taking the Chatsworth High School girls' team to the league championship in 1982. Prior to his arrival at Bakersfield, Rubio spent four years as coach of the women's team at Westlake High School.

As a player, Rubio was an all-conference and all-state volleyball selection at Cal State Northridge. Prior to his time at Cal State Northridge, Rubio starred at Pierce College, where he was inducted into the athletics Hall of Fame in 2012.

Rubio, who will be inducted into the Arizona Sports Hall of Fame on November 3, 2023, graduated from Cal State Northridge in 1982 with a bachelor's degree in physical education. He is married to the former Amanda Sebbas and they have a daughter, Olivia, and twins Dylan and Lucy.

Athletes Unlimited Digital Media Reporter Savanna Collins speaks with outside hitter Leah Edmond after her team's victory in Week Four over Team Hilley.

SYDNEY HILLEY, DANIELLE HART CONTINUE AS DYNAMIC DUO AT AU VOLLEYBALL

By Bruce Miles
October 13, 2023

A pair of Badger buddies have picked up right where they left off from their college volleyball days at the University of Wisconsin.

Danielle Hart and Sydney Hilley were reunited on Team Edmond for the first week of 2023 Athletes Unlimited Volleyball in Mesa, Arizona. The duo helped their team to a 3-0 record, with Hilley finishing the weekend fourth on the individual leaderboard and Hart fifth.

A dynamic duo indeed.

"Oh, it's so awesome," Hilley said. "It kind of feels like there's a piece of home with me. We've been on the same team the first two weeks, with the scrimmage and the first week of actual games. So it's been awesome. I just go hang out with her constantly, drive to practice together.

"It really is awesome because there are so many different hitters you have to connect with and learn what they like. With Dan and me, it's just second nature, so I don't have to worry about that at all. I just kind of toss it up there and she knows what to do. It's really fun being on the same team with her and just having her here."

While at Wisconsin, Hilley, a setter, played in 148 matches and became the Badgers' all-time career assists leader, with 6,138.

Hart, a middle blocker, had a six-year tenure for the Badgers, playing in 112 matches and finishing with 596 career kills. She was one of six players selected in the 2023 Athletes Unlimited Volleyball College Draft.

"I was absolutely thrilled," she said of being drafted. "I think the opportunity to play in the United States is huge. I'm not sure I would be continuing my career if it weren't for the opportunity in the United States. I'm obviously very thrilled to be here."

Hart and Hilley enjoyed unprecedented success at Wisconsin, culminating in an NCAA national championship in 2021. Hart was a member of that team, but she could not play after tearing her ACL during a September practice.

The injury affected everyone, not just Hart.

"That was really hard," Hilley said. "As soon as she went down in practice, I was heartbroken and devastated because she was such a big part of our team and our program. She was having a great start to her year, and she was going to be a big impact player. So when she went down, I thought our chances of going anywhere were out the window.

"But she had such a great approach. She was at every practice. She was just like a captain. She was looking in from the outside at some points and acting like a coach and contributing in whatever way she could. Without her, we would not have won, even though she didn't step on the court. To have her there after winning the championship and her just being so happy for all of us and so selfless even though it's got to be hard not actually playing when you know you could have been out there."

The injury changed Hart's future, a future she already was pondering before she got hurt.

"The day I tore my ACL, I had been on a phone call with (Badgers coach) Kelly Sheffield, and we were just talking about my future pro career in the sport and what kind of opportunities I would have in front of me," she said. "He was asking if there was any way he could get me back for my sixth year of eligibility. I told him, 'Kelly, I think my time's up,' and that I would be moving on with my class that I came in with, but that I had decided to stick around for the extra COVID year."

Then things changed.

"That afternoon, I came down on somebody under the net and tore my ACL," she said. "First, I was in denial that it was even a thing. I had shifted my kneecap over or something. Once I learned that I had torn my ACL after they did the test in the training room, I knew that I had to come back. It was that quick for me. I went from, 'There's no way I will be back for this next year,' to, 'I have no choice but to be back this following year.'

"I felt I still had things I wanted to do and leave at Wisconsin. I just gave it everything to make it back with the goal of playing in every game the following season, and I was able to fulfill that goal."

Instead of being bitter and down about the injury, Hart made the best of it and lifted her teammates up as she rehabbed.

"Oh, definitely, because seeing her go through that and all her rehab and fight to come back," Hilley said. "For us it was such an inspiration, a source of motivation for us to do well for her as well the other things, of course: bringing it back to Wisconsin for the first time ever and all the players who had come before us to shape that culture. It's a combination of a lot of things but definitely Danielle was one of those inspirations for us.

"But she's also just been an inspiration every day in life. She just appreciates every single opportunity every day and tries to find the positive thing in everything. That's always been something that's rubbed off on me. That's why I'm so glad, or one of the reasons, I'm so glad that she's here with me, because she helps me realize all the little things that we get to do and how awesome every opportunity is."

Hart did go back to Wisconsin even as Hilley and other teammates graduated. The extra year provided Hart the opportunity to become a leader of younger players.

"That was a really special year, and it might even be my favorite year because it brought something out of me that I didn't know I was capable of and challenged me in different ways that I never could have been challenged before, having to step into such a big leadership role," she said. "I wasn't sure I'd ever be able to say I was happy I tore my ACL, but I'm truly at a point where I can say I'm truly grateful that I did tear my ACL. There are so many relationships and so many turns in my path that wouldn't have happened otherwise, and things that I learned and got to experience that I wouldn't have otherwise.

"It certainly is really, really hard and in many ways. I'm still dealing with remnants of that. It is definitely worth it and has been so rewarding. A lot of it, just like life, is what you make of it."

Reunited at Athletes Unlimited, Hart and Hilley are beginning a new journey together. Hilley got back to Wisconsin last spring on AU's volleyball tour of college campuses.

"The tour was awesome," she said. "The highlight was definitely going back to Wisconsin. It was super fun. I felt like I was back in college again."

Hilley provided a scouting report on Hart after a week's play in Mesa.

"No. 1, I think her blocking is on fire right now," Hilley said. "She is just flying in there right now, closing all the blocks, getting her hands over, just huge stuff blocks. That's one thing to look for. Another thing is her serve. Her serve is really good. It's flat. It's floaty. She's already had a couple of aces. That's been really good. I think her slide is also a weapon, her slide attack. She hits at a very high percentage, and she can work the ball around. Just her all-around game is something to watch."

Of course, the feeling is mutual coming from the other side.

"I couldn't think higher of Syd," Hart said. "Syd's always been somebody who I have looked up to from the moment I started getting recruited to Wisconsin. She started recruiting me, I guess, for Wisconsin. Just the way Syd goes about things is always the right way. I quickly grabbed onto the way that she approaches things.

"She is just a master at balancing out the court and her hitters and getting everybody to fire on all cylinders. She does a really good job of keeping the blockers on the other side guessing and having to make strong reads. She does a great job of putting the ball in really nice areas for people to make things happen."

One of the most interesting aspects of all Athletes Unlimited sports is that captains draft new teams each week. Hart and Hilley have been teammates for Weeks One and Two. But it's quite possible they will be facing each other from opposite sides of the net.

"It's going to be really weird because that hasn't happened yet," Hilley said. "She's played really well so far. I'm sure she'll go really high in the draft. Her blocking has been great. Her serving has been great. Her attacking has been great. I think people also know that we work really well together, so it kind of works if you draft us as a package deal."

ALISHA CHILDRESS: REPRESENTING A CAUSE CLOSE TO HOME

By Bruce Miles
October 19, 2023

For Alisha Childress, giving back to the community truly is a family affair. It's also one she stakes her name on.

For this Athletes Unlimited volleyball season, Childress is playing for the Childress Family Foundation.

"I'm really excited," she said. "This is the first time that I specifically played for this foundation. It feels really cool. I think most of the athletes would attest to the more involved they are with the foundation, the more it comes alive. You realize the direct impact versus larger organizations that may feel so big that it's not like you can interact. There's nothing more personal than knowing where the money is going and exactly who it's going to and knowing it's making a really big difference. It feels so much more connected for me now.

"I think there's no wrong choice when you're giving back to any foundation, but I think this one definitely hits home because it's so hands-on and we get to be there. And the fact that this is something that we're doing as a family, this isn't just a one-time thing. This is part of our DNA as a family. If we have a position where we can help and lift up others, we always will."

The Childress Family Foundation got its start with Childress' husband, Josh Childress, a former pro basketball player who logged time in the NBA with Atlanta, Brooklyn, New Orleans and Phoenix as well as in overseas leagues.

Josh sought to give back to his high school, Mayfair High School in Lakewood, California, with scholarships to student-athletes.

Since then, things have only grown.

"The Foundation actually changed a little bit over time," Alisha said. "It was originally the Josh Childress Foundation. He started that when he was playing in the league and just really felt strongly about giving back to the community he was raised in, so the L.A., Compton, Mayfair area in California. Over the course of his playing career, he had several events, such as Flicks and Kicks, where he would get a group together to get a pair of shoes and watch a movie together to have that community feel in giving back.

"That has now evolved to more of a student-athlete scholarship fund. He shifted that and wanted to be in a place where kids were taking school seriously but also being able to perform at a high level on the athletic stage. They get to know the student-athletes a little bit better about their families, where they want to go with their lives past high school."

Things began to expand after the first scholarships were awarded, a couple of years ago.

"We went to the inaugural handing out of the scholarships at a celebration dinner," Childress said. "We brought the kids and we're at the event, and you could just feel how transformative something like that was for those kids. Josh took it really seriously and was really passionate in the way that he was speaking about it. I just said to him that it felt so cool to be there as a family. I said, 'How hard would it be if we could shift this to the Childress Family Foundation because not only do I want to help contribute and want it to be our family, but, I want to do something similar at my high school and where I grew up?'"

Alisha, a graduate of Leland High School in Michigan, was in for a pleasant surprise at the next awards program.

"The second year, we're sitting at the banquet, and we're there as a family again, and the energy is great in the room," she said. "He hadn't told me yet that it was now the Childress Family Foundation. He shifted the name and did it as a kind of surprise. Just feeling like this was our family, even starting with our kids, who probably don't understand yet but eventually will understand how important it is to help the people in your community. If you're in a position to help and give back, you do. That's kind of how it evolved.

"So my goal this season, my earnings get to go toward the scholarship at my high school where I grew up in Michigan."

In addition to having starred on the volleyball court as a professional and in college at Penn State, Childress is the mother of three children. A family foundation resonates even more for her.

"Absolutely," she said. "As a mom, I'm constantly thinking about what I say and what I do. It really matters, and sometimes what I do matters more than what I say. The idea that it is just part of who we are, that we are going to try to help anyone we can whenever we can, this feels like an example of that. This is what we do as a family. We try to raise money and we try to give back to communities. That's who we are. I want them (her children) to never think twice about that."

Having one's name on a foundation is certainly a unique situation. When Childress brought the idea of playing for it to Athletes Unlimited's Player Executive Committee, she said it was met enthusiastically.

"I was hesitant to do it, I think, initially to play for his (Josh's) foundation specifically because it felt like, 'Is it weird that I just play for him?'" she said. "I brought it to the PEC and said, 'Would it be OK?' And they say, 'Yeah. Do what you need to do to get this locked in and we'll help you with it.' Really positive feedback when I said I wanted to make that move.

"They helped me get all my ducks in a row to make sure it was ready for the season. They want that sort of passion, and they want people to feel really connected. That's such a mission of the league in general. Whenever an athlete comes and says, 'I really, really want to do this and I really care and this is really important to me,' they're like, 'Yes, we just have to find a way.' I think that feels so amazing to be heard in that way as an athlete and then be able to go do the things you're passionate about."

In the coming years, it's possible other players may choose to play for the Childress Family Foundation. In other words, a foundation has been set for even great things to come. And for Childress, it has all happened organically.

"Huge alignment," she said. "It speaks volumes for any league to say, 'We're passionate and we want people who are passionate about other things to bring those passions here, and we're going to support you in any direction that goes.' That's huge. To feel like your heart is aligned with your sport and the joy that you get to play and your heart is aligned in a way that you can give back in a really meaningful way, it's so much alignment going on all at once. There's nothing to do but be happy and get such great joy from that."

KAYLA CAFFEY: MASTERING CHANGE AND EVOLVING THROUGH VOLLEYBALL

By Savanna Collins
October 20, 2023

With its unique flair and reimagined point system, the Athletes Unlimited model can sometimes be tough to grasp at first – even for players. Getting drafted and changing teams every week challenges players' adaptability, communication, and resilience.

But for Kayla Caffey, it's been a breeze. The rookie middle blocker is used to change. She transferred three times in her seven-year collegiate year.

In the era of the transfer portal and college athletes switching schools more than ever, Caffey understood what she was capable of throughout her college career and, more importantly, what she needed in the program she chose.

It's what helped her not only get it right once but all three times.

KNOWING HERSELF

Caffey started her career at the University of Missouri where she spent four years as a Tiger. Even as a high schooler, she had a strong sense of self-awareness that helped her decide where to commit.

"I don't think that I was ready to go straight from high school to Big Ten volleyball. I wasn't at that level physically or mentally. So I think Mizzou was a great foundational piece for me," Caffey said.

She took an NCAA redshirt her first season at Mizzou in 2016 but earned a spot in the lineup her redshirt freshman year. She recorded 130 total blocks to rank fifth in the SEC, top-75 in the NCAA, and 10th all-time in Missouri history. She missed the 2018 season due to injury and redshirted again. Caffey came back stronger in her final year with the Tigers, captaining the team and ranking nationally with a .408 overall hitting percentage during the season.

"I loved my coaches while I was there," Caffey said. "They really just nurtured you as a person first and then as an athlete, and by the time I was finished at Mizzou, I kind of was feeling like I could take this step to the next level."

Technically still a junior in eligibility, Caffey began exploring her options and had scholarship offers from Minnesota and Nebraska. She had to make her decision in the middle of the COVID pandemic which meant meeting her future coaches and campus virtually. She chose Nebraska, site unseen.

What she learned when she arrived was that she had some misconceptions about the Big Ten that she would find to be untrue.

"Coming out of Mizzou, I just really wanted a warm program to go to because in my head I was like, 'Oh, the Big Ten is just like you eat or get eaten,'" Caffey said. "[I thought] they don't really care about their players... I had never been in the Big Ten, just watching them and they're paying at such a high level. I was like, there's no way that they can also care about their players. But that was so wrong."

Caffey's experience at Nebraska is not only one she's proud of but one she reflects on fondly. In almost every interview about her college career, she brings up Tyler Hildebrand, one of her Huskers assistant coaches, as one of the most impactful people in her life.

Though there was one assumption she got right about Big Ten Volleyball – she was going to work harder and do things she'd never done before. She described the Husker program as "running a tight ship" where she put together all the pieces to excel. Taking her nutrition and fitness seriously, doing film assignments and homework, and training longer than ever before.

"I had never practiced for three hours at Mizzou, but when I got to Nebraska, that was a normal thing to do. It was just taking [it] up another level in all aspects of everything."

In the 2020 season that was cut short, Caffey played in 17 matches averaging 2.04 kills and 1.09 blocks per set and second on the team in blocks. COVID granted her another year of eligibility and Caffey came back in 2021 and became an AVCA Second Team All-American, ranked fourth in Big Ten play for hitting percentage (.376), and competed for an NCAA title.

"I think every year that I played, I got more confident in my abilities and I think that really blossomed for me at Nebraska."

ASKING THE RIGHT QUESTIONS

Caffey was two-for-two when it came to choosing the right program for her career. How did she know being a Husker was the fit for her, especially after never meeting her coaches and teammates before committing?

By asking the right questions.

"I was older and so I had experienced college. I had taken a mental note of things that I liked and I did not in a program, and so I was able to ask those specific questions. What's your philosophy on volleyball? What's the punishment for something that happens in practice? Just certain questions that you should ask and you can really get to learn a coach's philosophy, how they react when they're frustrated or upset, and different scenarios. It's just really unique to you and how you like to be coached as well."

For her future teammates, she looked at their social media. As she scrolled she asked herself, "Do I feel like I can fit in with these girls? Do they seem happy when I watch them on TV? Do they post things that they do outside of volleyball? Are they only doing volleyball? Just looking at those little things."

And of course, asking about academics. Caffey earned a bachelor's degree from Missouri in elementary education and wasn't going to go somewhere that didn't have the graduate program she was interested in. She said if she sacrificed academics for the volleyball, "it would've been a mess."

"Academics are important. I'm a student and then I'm an athlete."

In December 2021, Caffey graduated with her master's degree in teaching, learning and teacher's education from Nebraska. She thought this would be the end of the road for her college career, but head coach John Cook convinced her to consider playing out her last season of eligibility in 2022. Caffey decided for one last go-round but would have to make one more change. Nebraska didn't have a scholarship available for her.

JOY IN THE UNEXPECTED

Caffey was in the headspace to play another year of college but needed a place to play. So, for her seventh and final season of eligibility, Caffey went to the University of Texas.

"Jared Elliot is an amazing human being," Caffey said. "The fact that he picked me up so late in the game and he just believed in me so hard and wanted me to have a great senior year. He literally told me when I got there, 'We're going to win. We're going to do this.' And I believed him."

In her last season, Caffey participated in 25 matches and 67 sets, making significant contributions with 95 kills and 72 total blocks. Her years of work elevating her game culminated in the ending every college athlete dreams about – a championship. The Longhorns won the 2022 NCAA Division I title.

From a Tiger, to a Husker, to a Longhorn, Caffey didn't make the journey for nothing. Along the way she continuously evolved, from what she considered an offensive middle to now more of a defensive blocker.

"I think that my blocking game has grown significantly, and that's always an area that I was slacking in," Caffey explained. "I'm relaxed at the net. I trust in my abilities and what I can do."

So waiting to be picked and changing teams every week at AU? No problem for Caffey. She recognized she's been picked late in the drafts on Tuesdays but is unfazed.

"I feel like that doesn't bother me or shake me because I'm really confident in who I am as a player, and I know that if anyone wants to put me out on the court, I would get the job done, and so I think that just confidence is something that I've grown in a lot."

After two weeks of competition, Caffey leads the league in blocks with 16 and has earned MVP honors in two of her six matches.

"I feel free when I go out there and play. I don't feel stressed. I don't feel anxious because I've done this before. I've played at the highest level of volleyball I played in Nebraska. I played at Texas and won the national championship. I've been coached by great people and played with all kinds of people, so I just feel super confident in all my experiences."

Growing up, she had two big dreams for her volleyball career: play in the Big Ten and play at Texas. It would take her some time, but she achieved them all.

BLOSSOM, LUKES REUNITE AT ATHLETES UNLIMITED AFTER HISTORIC SEASON AT SAN DIEGO

By Bruce Miles
October 23, 2023

Katie Lukes is Southern California through and through. She hails from San Clemente, on the picturesque oceanside drive between Los Angeles and San Diego.

So it's no wonder she felt at home studying and playing volleyball at the University of San Diego for her entire collegiate career.

Gabby Blossom is a self-described Midwest kid from St. Louis. Though it might have seemed unlikely, even to her, she found a home at USD after a stellar academic and volleyball career at Penn State.

Lukes and Blossom teamed up for one memorable season at USD, helping to lead the Teros to the NCAA national semifinals. Today, the two fast friends are reunited in Mesa, Arizona, after being selected in the 2023 Athletes Unlimited Volleyball College Draft, and it's as if they hadn't missed a beat.

"I love playing with Gabby," Lukes said. "She and I have become so close. She's just such a fun teammate. She's so supportive. She's so energetic and competitive. It's so thrilling as a volleyball player. I can't wait to hopefully be on the same team one week and get that connection we had going in college."

After being on different teams in Week 1 of Athletes Unlimited play this season in Mesa, Arizona, Lukes and Blossom got their wish in Week 2, when they both were drafted onto Team Edmond.

"Katie is such an incredible leader, such an incredible person and teammate," Blossom said. "To be able to be her teammate and be her friend and to grow close with her through that season (at Penn State) and being here (at Athletes Unlimited) has been such a special experience for me. She's become one of my really, really great friends. Playing volleyball with her is so fun."

Lukes and Blossom have become so close that it almost seems inevitable that their two divergent paths would eventually cross. For Lukes, going to San Diego seemed a natural choice. Staying there for the duration of her college career was the product of so many good things.

"Oh, my gosh, so many things," she said. "I think my teammates and my coaches, honestly. I loved everyone I played with. I loved my coaches so much. It was like a family to me. Obviously, San Diego is beautiful. I think what was most important were the people. I am still so close with all my old teammates and my coaches. I talk to them all the time. I just know they'll always be in my life and that they care about me as a person outside of volleyball. I just knew that deep down. And I knew that this is something that's so rare. I never, ever wanted to leave."

Once Blossom finally got to San Diego, she didn't want to leave either. Getting there in the first place was something else altogether, and it wasn't a certainty until she officially committed.

"I think everyone asks me that," she said. "When I first committed, people were like, 'That's quite the mix-up,' which for sure it was – opposite sides of the country, different conferences, completely different lifestyles. I went into the (transfer) portal and was like, 'If I'm going to transfer, I want a completely different experience.' I didn't want to stay in the Big Ten. I said, 'If I'm going to do it, I'm just going to go get a whole new life experience.' How cool that I got to do that. COVID was terrible but the fact that I got to go get a master's and go to a different school after I graduated from Penn State was important to me because I really wanted to graduate from Penn State. I love Penn State."

While in the transfer portal, Blossom talked with several schools. At first, there was no California dreamin' on her part.

"San Diego reached out a few times," she said. "I was like, 'I don't know. It's far. I'm not really a California kid.' I had a coach I really liked and trusted and he was like, 'Give that staff a chance. That is the best staff in the country. Listen to them. Hear them out. Hear what they have to say.'"

Blossom wound up talking with legendary San Diego head coach Jennifer Petrie. The rest is history.

"I finally talked to Jen, who is the most badass," Blossom said. "You talk about a woman who is such a role model for all of us and does everything the right way in coaching. I talked to her and was like, 'I need a visit.' Jen was like, 'If you come out for a visit, there's no way you don't come here.' I'm like, 'I'm a Midwest kid, Jen.' I went out there like December 22. I was like, 'OK, this is it.' The staff, the way they talked about their program and the way they loved their players was so special. I knew that team had potential to be really, really good."

"I trusted my gut and committed, and it was better than anything I could have imagined."

Transferring from one school to another is never easy. For Blossom having done that, she has never-ending respect from Lukes.

"She came in her fifth year; I think that's always a risk you're taking," Lukes said. "You're leaving everything you know. Being in my fifth year at San Diego, I knew everything about San Diego. I knew everything about our program. So I think her coming in, honestly, it was the easiest transition ever. She bonded with us right off the bat. I think that's what also makes her so special. We just knew she was so cool from the beginning."

"It honestly felt like she had been on our team for more than just a year. I feel like I've known her for longer than having played with her for only one season. I think she was super fortunate. We all brought her in. We were so fortunate to get her and have her be such a great teammate."

The experience of attending two vastly different schools gave Blossom a unique perspective on life.

"Going to Penn State, I learned so many life lessons," she said. "I spent four years there, my whole undergrad. I love it. That was a grind like no other. I made so many of my best friends and favorite memories there. When you transfer, when you're a little bit older, it's a weird experience because when I went to San Diego, I was going to a team that had leadership and had this established culture."

"I'm so lucky San Diego made it so easy for me to blend in. They welcomed me with such open arms. I was really lucky that we had really strong senior voices that were great leaders. We all helped each other find our roles. There's so much perspective from two different programs. I'm a setter and being able to set in two completely different offenses and two completely different types of athletes really helped grow my game."

Penn State's pedigree is one of national excellence. Together, Lukes and Blossom were able to lift an already proud San Diego program into the rarefied air during a magical season that Lukes will never forget.

"I think, obviously, it's going to the Final Four, beating Stanford, will forever be my favorite moment of college volleyball," she said. "That goes with the team that we had in my fifth year, the connections we had, the team unity that we had, the players on the court and on the bench. It was something I can't even explain. I was really, really grateful to have that be my last full year in college and having it literally be like, 'That was the best volleyball, the best team. Personality wise, it was so fun.'"

"I think we were proving to everyone we're not really an underdog. At that point we were beating everybody. So yeah, it was totally taken as a sense of pride that we could wear 'San Diego' and create a new history for the university. It was really special because for us, we don't always have that big, flashy stage and everything. We were just super grateful to be there. We were just gritty and wanted to win for each other. That was the only thing we were playing for."

UNDENIABLE: BROOKE NUNEVILLER'S PURSUIT TO BE AN ELITE OUTSIDE HITTER

By Savanna Collins
October 30, 2023

"You're undersized. You don't have enough power. You won't be successful as an outside hitter."

Brooke Nuneviller has heard those criticisms through her entire career. To this day, she ignores them.

She ignored them when she committed to Oregon because they recruited her as a hitter, denying the schools that offered her a libero spot. She ignored them when she earned a starting spot her sophomore year and went on to be a three-time All-American.

"When I hear things like that, I just work my ass off," Nuneviller said. "I'll do whatever it takes to compete at the highest level, especially as an outside."

Still competing in her rookie year, it's safe to say Nuneviller has been checking that box as a pro. She's seventh overall on the Athletes Unlimited Volleyball leaderboard and second in stat points – one of the best at the position this season. She also played for Nilufer Belediyespor in Turkey as an outside hitter earlier in the year.

She's not done proving everyone wrong yet though. Nuneviller has been working on the physicality of her game and vertical so she can continue to compete (and beat out) outsiders who have the upper hand when it comes to height.

"I'm trying to take a lot of pride in the fact that I know what type of player I am: I'm a really smart ball-control player. But I'm also trying to work on that physicality and trying to inch closer to the girls that are putting away 20 kills a match and seeing what I can do in order to get there. You see 6-foot-2, 6-foot-3 outsiders that jump out of the gym and I've worked on my vertical, but I'm definitely under size still."

WISDOM FROM A CHAMPION

Watch any AU Volleyball match in the last three years and you'll immediately notice 2022 champion Betty de la Cruz do just that. She waits on the high, arched sets she prefers and explodes with power.

Nuneviller has played opposite De La Cruz in Week Two and Week Four this season and is soaking in what she can learn from the seasoned professional. That is after she got over some of her nerves.

"I am not going to lie, I was nervous to play with her because she's this vet. She's an Olympian. She is someone I've played against in the past – just intimidating. I didn't necessarily know how it would be on the court and I would say immediately that she demands a lot out of her teammates, but she also demands an equal amount out of herself. Those are the players that I respect the most because I would say I feel pretty similar in that way."

Nuneviller said playing alongside De La Cruz, she'll be the first to tell you if you can do something better but also the one in your ear helping to make adjustments to succeed.

"We'll be in hitting lines and we won't have a block in front of me. I'll bounce a couple balls and she's like, 'That's going to get blocked.' And I'm like, 'You're absolutely right. It's going to get blocked.' And I'll play with her and I'll be watching her hit ... She's swinging high; she's hitting corners; she's being smart; she's tipping; and she's just a very smart, experienced volleyball player."

Working and learning alongside De La Cruz came at the perfect time for Nuneviller as she continued to find her footing in the league that De La Cruz had dominated for two years.

"I think it was really helpful for me to have her as a teammate in Week Two because I was probably getting away with too much in Week One or trying to go for the glory swing, or just not be as smart of a player as I have been in the past," Nuneviller explained. "She reminded me and she continues to hold me accountable just to take the smart swings and be an all-around great volleyball player."

That early guidance has continued to pay off. She's fourth this season in kills and on 304 attack attempts has only made 22 hitting errors – the fewest of any hitter in the league with 250 attempts or more. Her efficiency is valuable to her team's offense but also a part of her approach to the game.

"I think not making mistakes helps me get into a rhythm and I've always known that about myself. So I think it takes me a few swings at the beginning of a match to really feel like I can take a big rip at a ball instead of just kind of chop it ... But in this league, it definitely helps when you're getting minus 12 for a hitting error."

IN TRANSITION

Libero might have been how Nuneviller started her college career but it wasn't what she became an All-American for. She earned a starting spot on the roster in a libero jersey her freshman year and racked up 580 total digs, the third-most in Oregon single-season history. That summer, she was also a libero for the USA Volleyball Women's Junior National Team at the 2019 FIVB U20 World Championships.

But her sophomore year is when she made the transition to outside hitter and started to come into her own as a hitter. Nuneviller is the first in Oregon history to earn the honor of All-American three times. She recorded a career-best 3.98 kills per set coupled with a career-high .281 hitting percentage.

Recently, Nuneviller competed with the U.S. Women's National Team at the Volleyball Nations League Tournament in Brazil as a libero/outside. Adjusting back to libero in the gym with USA typically takes her a month to get accustomed to again. Surrounded by the best players in the country, Nuneviller felt how it challenged her and pushed her to grow defensively.

When she reflects on the path and length of her career, and the passion that continues to bloom, she thanks pursuing being a hitter.

"I've been playing now for 16 years, which is absolutely crazy. And I think just working hard and being the best outside hitter I can be at every level has kept my love for the sport."

Simply put, Nuneviller would not be denied the position on the court she loves to play.

"Every time I hear 'you can't do it,' I work a little harder."

MORGAN HENTZ AND DAVE RUBIO'S UNBEATABLE COLLABORATION

By Savanna Collins
November 3, 2023

After earning a spot as a captain in Week Two, Morgan Hentz was set to do the unheard-of in Athletes Unlimited Volleyball. She built upon her undefeated opening week of play and constructed two more teams of her own that also fostered unconquered success.

Week Two: 3-0 record, eight set wins

Week Three: 3-0 record, eight set wins

She remains in the top four heading into Championship Weekend, now with a .778 win percentage as a captain.

"It's helped me grow as a player and as a person," Hentz said. "I think these are just life skills that are really going to help me along the way, whether it's within the world of volleyball or outside the world of volleyball. So I'm super grateful to have this learning experience."

Alongside her for most of the experience has been facilitator Dave Rubio. At AU, facilitators rotate through each jersey color week-to-week. Rubio began with the purple team (Week One Team Edmond), moving on to blue, orange, gold, and then back to purple.

By a stroke of luck, Hentz and Rubio were together the first three weeks of the season and together created an unstoppable leadership within the league. While Hentz dominated the court as a libero and guided the team with not only her defense but her communication skills, Rubio worked in the background.

He attends other matches throughout the week and provides captains with a detailed scouting report on every player in the league, as well as how they affect their opponent. For Hentz, the trust in Rubio freed her up to just play the match and know that she had him to help her make adjustments as the match wore on.

"I let Dave handle all the subbing in and out and I feel like we were always kind of on the same page about when we needed to time out," Hentz said. "I think he did a great job of noticing and seeing things that I don't always notice offensively."

Rubio was the head coach of the Arizona Wildcats Volleyball program for four decades and retired as head coach in January of 2023. In his 31 seasons, he led the Wildcats to 20 NCAA Tournament appearances.

"I've known Morgan and certainly known of her for a long time when playing against her at the University of Arizona," Rubio said. "I've always admired her as a player and it was really an absolute pleasure getting to know her as a person as well. Her playing speaks for itself."

Hentz talked about how being in the captain's role has forced her to see the game differently and think about the other factors happening on the court beyond reacting and playing elite defense. Rubio described it as a coach's mindset.

"Her attention to detail is something that I really appreciated as a coach ... She really approached it with more of a coach's approach to the attention to detail."

Rubio taking on some aspects of the week like practice plans, substitutions, and game management freed Hentz up to do what she does best: play defense.

"She's the best player I've ever seen and ever been around in that position," Rubio said. "It's just an incredible kind of highlight reel performance that she puts together every night. And it's contagious. The teams that she plays on, everyone plays probably a better level of defense when she's on their team."

He's not wrong about that. Statistically, Hentz's teams this season make the fewest errors. Her Week Two and Three teams impacted opponents to average about 16.3 attack errors per match while her side averaged 8.6 a match. Twice her team committed only six hitting errors in a match, the fewest of any AU team ever.

"I felt like he was always giving feedback to our attackers about what was open and how to go around the block or use the block to our advantage," Hentz said. "He was great also at making in-game adjustments or telling our blockers what to change or defenders where to stand. It was super awesome to be with him."

Even when being interviewed, Rubio and Hentz echoed one another about their camaraderie. In the draft room, at practice, and in matches they were always on the same page.

"I think the two of us working together has really been – obviously the results speak for themselves – but I think it's been a really good synergy that we both have together."

Despite the roster and opponents changing week to week, there are common threads amongst Hentz's team. For her, serving and passing take priority in the draft room.

"If we can knock other teams out of system that's going to make our lives on defense easier. And then ball control, how often can we be in system and fighting off tough serves so that we can run as many offensive options as we'd like?" Hentz asked. "I feel like that's my main focus ... Just deciding on the players who are great servers, have great ball control, and also just high volleyball IQs."

Going undefeated the first nine matches, Hentz logged an 11-match win streak dating back to last season, the longest win streak in AU Volleyball history. It also matches the longest winning streak by any player in any Athletes Unlimited sport.

Rubio was alongside her for three of the weeks but they were finally split up in Week Four.

Hentz was with a new facilitator, Kayla Banworth, and went up against Team Edmond and Dave Rubio on Sunday night. They both were not looking forward to it; Hentz dreaded facing Rubio's strategy while Rubio was not excited about working with hitters who would have to put a ball down around one of the best liberos in the world.

Team Hentz took a set win, but Team Edmond won the match 70-63.

Hentz will captain a team one last time this season, leading the blue team in Week Five. Rubio won't be in blue but is paired with Brooke Nuneviller and the purple squad.

She stands in third overall on the leaderboard and is the winningest player so far this season with 1,760 win points.

"It's not like being a captain of your high school or college team where maybe you're the on court voice or you're holding the huddles really tight after each point," Hentz explained. "There's more strategy involved than I've ever experienced before in terms of making sure we get the matchups that we want on the block, where do we want to start, what's our best rotation? Those were things I just wasn't really thinking about."

She may not have been thinking about it before but now whether it's overseas or in the Team USA gym, Hentz won't leave behind the new perspective she's gained as a captain with Athletes Unlimited.

ALLI LINNEHAN SETTLES INTO CAPTAINCY: ‘YOUR GROWTH IS NEVER OVER’

By Savanna Collins
November 5, 2023

Earning the role of Athletes Unlimited is an experience only a select group of athletes have every season. It comes with a unique set of responsibilities and challenges that players have never encountered before — coaching and leading their own team while also playing.

Across all four sports, athletes either love it or hate it.

Alli Linnehan had a distinct journey in and out of captainship this year.

Following an undefeated opening week with Team Edmond, Linnehan propelled up the leaderboard to be a captain in Week Two and lead the orange team. She received advice from her former Kentucky teammate Leah Edmond about what to expect, but she struggled to find a balance between being an outside hitter and the decision-maker of her team.

“I’m somebody who’s a mega people pleaser, so I just want to make sure everyone’s happy and so I guess having to make a lot of decisions was really hard at first,” Linnehan explained. “I think Week Two really showed me that when that whistle blows, I just want to focus on playing and be relaxed and not have to worry: ‘Is this person playing well? Do I need to make changes?’ All of that.”

That’s where the facilitator comes in. This Volleyball season, Dave Rubio, Stephen Gbur, Brandon Directo, and Kayla Banwarth rotate through the teams as facilitators. Their role is to support the captains. An AU captain is in charge of every aspect of the teams’ week including practice, scouting reports, and game line ups, but some lean on their facilitator and other players on their team to share the load.

“Whenever I step on the court, I don’t want to be in charge of decision making ... That was the biggest lesson that I learned and so I’ve delegated that. I’ve found some players who have a lot of experience on every team I’ve been on so far and just told them, ‘I don’t want that responsibility. Can you help?’ And everyone’s stepped up and been awesome in helping with that.”

Team Linnehan struggled in Week Two. They went 0-3 and didn’t win a set. If you’d have asked Linnehan then, she would have told you, “Sheesh, do not let me be back up there,” but her sentiment has changed since then.

Linnehan was the overall highest point earner in Week Three and moved back into the top four. This time, she was the captain of the blue team.

She led the group to a 2-1 record, winning six out of nine sets as the most successful team of Week Four. Individually, it was her best week yet too. She hit .330 in those three games with 38 kills for her season-best 409 stat points. Linnehan was the highest point earner of the week for the second week in a row.

What changed? First, Linnehan learned she needed to pass on responsibilities to her facilitator once the matches started. But the other aspect was mental — she needed to let go of the pressure that as captain she needed to be a different player.

“I didn’t feel that (pressure) the very first day, I wasn’t stressed, I was just excited to play and then I had the first couple of points that were a little shaky,” Linnehan said. “Then I think I just added this pressure to myself of, ‘Oh, I’m a captain, I’m supposed to be the best on the court right now. I have to be better.’ So then that’s when all that pressure and all the thoughts and our brains just kind of take off from there. And I felt like I just couldn’t get in control of those thoughts.”

Linnehan explained she felt like she took a deep breath going into Week Three to play “her game” and from there, it’s gone uphill.

She cruised through her second time as a captain and is leading the Orange team for the final weekend of the season. Linnehan not only experienced challenges so early in her first-ever AU season, but she had the opportunity to grow from it in such a short period of time.

“I’ve found my rhythm, I’ve found what has worked ... I found those players who can help me and just settling into that role and realizing it’s not as big of a deal as you think. It’s just a little title next to your name, but just go out and play your game and it’s all good. So I’ve definitely come around to liking it.”

Linnehan has continued to master the role; her team won the first game of Week Five and two out of three sets. Along with her personal growth, she feels her volleyball perspective shifting through being a captain.

“I’ve definitely had to think more instead of just trying to win it with those six or seven [on the court]... You need to figure out how we can use these 10 or 11 players to our advantage. Everyone here is phenomenal. Everyone’s a professional and can do their job well,” she said.

“Before coming in here, I would say I had a pretty solid knowledge of volleyball just from playing for so many years ... I have learned that I have so much more to learn, which is actually really cool. Your growth is never over.”

Heading into the final two days of the season, Linnehan holds the No. 2 spot on the leaderboard and is 123 points behind Edmond. The former Kentucky teammates will face off in the final matchup of the season on Monday evening as they battle for the title of Champion.
